

Citizen Journalism in Place

(To “activate” this poster, see the instructions on the reverse side.)

“The importance of access to information carried over into my project. I wanted undergraduate students and survivors, who each are at increased risk of assault, to recognize that there are likely survivors within our community. I also wanted these students to be equipped with both on and off campus resources, to extend to peers and to have an increased understanding of the recovery process in the event that they find themselves victims.”

Citizen Journalist/Artist, Catherine Kennedy, 2021